Urgent: John Gavin has not been seen for more than two weeks

'YOUR FAMILY WANTS YOU HOME'

Desperate appeal by mother of missing man

By Lucy Purdy

THE mother of a man from Tottenham who has been missing for more than two weeks has appealed for help in tracing her son.

Ann Gavin described 36-year-old John as a "happy, outgoing lad" but said she is increasingly worried about his safety after not hearing from him since September 28.

Mrs Gavin last saw him leaving her house in Hewitt Road, Hornsey, that morning wearing blue jeans, a blue fleece and a light brown leather jacket.

Speaking to the Advertiser this week, Mrs Gavin explained how she has had no contact with her son since they spoke briefly at 6pm that day. Despite promising to ring her later that evening, the call never came.

Mrs Gavin said: "I made him an omelette for his breakfast then he went upstairs and washed and got changed. I gave him a hug and a kiss as normal and he just walked down the road. I assumed he'd gone back to his house in West Green Road. But then one of his friends from there called asking if he was here.

"I knew straight away something was wrong because it is very out of character for him not to be in touch. John is tall and handsome. He's a very witty, intelligent lad. I'd just ask anyone who has seen him or knows where he is to please tell the police."

In a direct appeal to her son, she added: "Please get in touch. We are so worried about you and your family wants you home."

Police say they are growing increasingly worried for Mr Gavin's safety and do not know whether he has access to money, food or shelter. He is 6ft 2in tall, of slim build, and he may have difficulty walking and may appear more gaunt than in the photo.

Detective Inspector Steve Dryden, from Haringey's missing persons unit, said: "It has been two weeks since anyone heard from Mr Gavin and we're growing increasingly concerned for his welfare. His lack of contact is out of character and his family are worried about him."

Anyone with information as to Mr Gavin's whereabouts should call Haringey police on 0300 123 1212.

Charity keeps hope alive for hundreds of missing persons

JOHN GAVIN is not the only person who is missing from Haringey.

Missing People is a charity which aims to reunite missing people with their loved ones as well as support people and families left in limbo. Staff run a free phone helpline, help families to produce publicity posters and organise appeals to try to get their loved ones back, putting an end to what is often years of heartache.

Also featuring on the charity's database of vulnerable, missing children and adults are 38-year-old Elena Zhagorova and 55-year-old Rehema Nalumansi.

Friends and family of Elena have not seen her since she went missing from Tottenham on May 21 last year, after texting her boyfriend Charles to tell him she was fine. Although Elena was spotted at Highgate Underground station at about 1.30pm that day, there has been no sign of her since.

Originally from Latvia, Elena is 5ft 5in tall and of slim build with shoulder-length fair hair. She is urged to get in touch with her loved ones or the authorities, as there are concerns she may be unwell.

Rehema has been missing from Haringey since November 9, 2008. Family and friends are very concerned for her welfare and describe her disappearance as out of character. She is originally from Uganda and does not speak any English - her native tongue is Luganda. Rehema is described as 5ft 6in tall, of medium build, with brown eyes and black hair.

Alison Cowan, director of fundraising at Missing People, said: "We work to support, find and safeguard all those affected by the issue of missing. More than 200,000 incidents of missing people are recorded each year, and

Missing: Elena Zhagorova

"For their families, the charity offers a lifeline of hope."

the charity is currently publicising the cases of almost 100 missing people from Haringey and surrounding London areas. For them and their families living in limbo, the charity offers a lifeline of hope.

"To help keep the search alive for Rehema, Elena and thousands like them, please visit our website."

Anyone with information about any of the missing people is urged to visit www.missingpeople.org.uk or call their 24-hour free confidential Message Home hotline on 0500 700 700.

Judge set to rule on 'unfair' firing of Shoesmith over Baby P tragedy

By Lucy Purdy

HARINGEY'S disgraced former head of children's services is awaiting a judge's decision on whether she was unfairly sacked from the council.

Sharon Shoesmith had launched a legal challenge against Haringey Council, Ofsted and children's secretary Ed Balls following her dismissal last December in the wake of the Baby Peter scandal. After a four-day judicial review hearing, both sides are now waiting to hear from the judge, Mr Justice Foskett, who has reserved his decision to receive written evidence from Ms Shoesmith's legal team.

The 56-year-old has said a media "witch hunt", after the shocking details of Baby Peter Connelly's death were revealed, panicked Mr Balls into ordering she be removed from her post without compensation. Mr Balls has denied the allegation.

Ms Shoesmith's barrister told the court she had been left financially ruined, battling depression and suffering from post-traumatic shock after her dismissal.

But lawyers for Ofsted and the council have described the serious failings found within Ms Shoesmith's department to the court. One Ofsted inspector called it the "worst ever seen", with only one example of good practice found in the entire inspection.

Peter Connelly's death came at the hands of his mother Tracey Connelly, 28, her partner Steven Barker, 33, and Barker's brother Jason Owen, 37, who were all jailed. The 17-month-old had more than 50 injuries when he died – the horrific details and missed opportunities to save his life making headlines for months and sparking a huge wave of public anger.

This week's hearing has hinged on an allegation that an assessment of the department in a crucial Ofsted report was secretly downgraded from "good" to "inadequate" after Baby Peter's death. Ms Shoesmith's lawyers have demanding to see drafts of the report.

Ofsted has refuted the allegation that the report was changed.

Two charged over drugs haul

TWO men have been charged after 2.4kg of cocaine was intercepted at an airport and traced to a house in Tottenham.

A covert operation was launched and two men charged with the supply of class A drugs after the package was delivered to a house in Lansdowne Road on October 5.

Anthony Margima, 27, a student from High Road, Tottenham, and a unemployed 48-year-old man from Enfield were both remanded in custody. A 20-year-old woman was also arrested.

Access to healthcare needed

HARINGEY health chiefs have been told to work more closely with the community to improve health in the borough.

More needs to be done to help those from Haringey's many "diverse communities" access healthcare, according to Department of Health experts who visited the borough last week.

Eugenia Cronin, director of public health for NHS Haringey, said: "With a significant number of people regularly moving into the borough and other hard to reach groups, more needs to be done to raise the level of wellbeing in the borough."

1,000 uninsured vehicles seized

POLICE in Haringey have seized 1,000 uninsured vehicles since a crackdown on illegal drivers was launched a year ago.

Operation Reclaim was established in October 2008 using new legislation under the Road Traffic Act. As well as carrying out planned operations, officers can now seize vehicles during their day-to-day investigations.

Inspector John Forde said: "Uninsured drivers present a real danger, risking lives as well as injury to others and themselves. They are less likely to comply with other road traffic requirements, more likely to be involved in accidents and more likely to be involved in other criminal activity."

Icelandic bank to unfreeze £5m more

MORE than £5million of Haringey taxpayers' money frozen in one Icelandic bank is due to be recovered by Christmas.

A payment of £3.2m from Heritable Bank has already been returned to the council coffers and a second figure of £1.9million is "anticipated" to arrive in December, according to a spokesman this week.

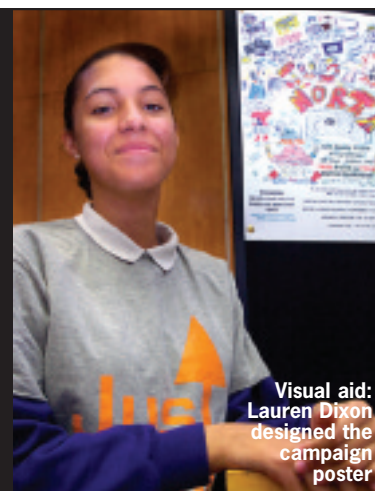

This is still only about a quarter of the £19.8m Haringey Council has deposited with Heritable in total – it also has £15.2m locked up in the failed Landsbanki and £2m in Glitnir bank.

The spokesman added: "We remain confident of receiving between 80 and 90 per cent of our investments in Icelandic banks."

Nationally, £900m remains frozen in the Icelandic banks after they collapsed a year ago.

Project to tackle postcode rivalry

Just North to draw youths away from gangs

By Lucy Purdy

GANG violence stemming from bitter postcode rivalries between Haringey and Enfield youths will be tackled in a new cross-border project launched last week.

Police chiefs and community leaders from both boroughs met at Enfield Civic Centre last Friday to launch the Just North programme. A recent spate of bloody cross-border clashes, involving youngsters brandishing knives and even guns, prompted officers to draw up the project in the hope it will tempt young people away from violence and into after-school and weekend activities. There have been 15 serious violent incidents involving gangs in the area since June last year.

Speaking at the launch, Haringey Detective Superintendent Paul Hoare said the unnecessary deaths of young people in gangs featured among the lows of his 29-year career.

He said: "I've been to too many post-mortems, too many times I've had to knock on doors of parents whose kids have been hurt and too many times I've been to court – believe me, there is no pleasure in locking a young person away for a very long time. If this project means there is one less violent incident, it will be worth it."

Just North will kick off with an MC and songwriting session featuring MC Creed on October 21, followed by martial arts workshops, a five-a-side football tournament, a theatre workshop and a careers advice session. The events are open to youngsters from all over Enfield and Haringey and will run until December 5.

Dane Holness, a 16-year-old pupil at Gladys Aylwood School in Edmonton, and 14-year-old Northumberland Park School pupil Lauren Dixon were declared the winners of a poster design competition in which they penned designs to publicise Just North.

Animal abuse link to Baby P cruelty

By Lucy Purdy

A BILLBOARD featuring a photo of Baby Peter Connelly's evil stepfather has been put up in Tottenham to highlight the link between animal abuse and violent behaviour.

Animal rights charity People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals has erected the 20ft-long billboard in Broad Lane showing a picture of convicted child abuser Steven Barker, with a caption alongside which reads: "Steven Barker: Animal abuser, rapist and murderer. 'People who are violent with animals rarely stop there'."

The striking statement is just over a mile away from the house in Penshurst Road where Peter Connelly died.

At the time of his death, the 17-month-old had suffered a broken back, had his fingertips sliced off and been punched so hard in the face that he swallowed a tooth.

During his trial a court heard that Barker had enjoyed torturing guinea pigs as a child and skinned frogs before breaking their legs. Barker was also found guilty of raping a two-year-old girl in a separate case.

Poorva Joshipura, from PETA, said people who abuse animals often go on to commit violent acts toward people too.

"Cases such as the Baby P case and sociological studies show how vital it is that people intervene when a child commits a sadistic or violent act towards an animal," she said.

"Abusers are generally cowards who enjoy the feeling of power they get when they victimise any defenceless living being and they must get counselling and correction early on."

Student scales African peak to raise breast cancer funds

A LAW student from Tottenham took on Africa's highest peak to raise awareness of breast cancer among young women.

Akpene Akonou has collected more than £1,000 for the Breast Cancer Campaign after the death of her aunt earlier this year prompted her to take a new outlook on life, including the daunting challenge of Mount Kilimanjaro. The 24-year-old told the Advertiser: "My aunt's death has changed my opinion on many things. I now work to the best of my ability and want to take on new challenges. It's made me fear life and how long I have left."

Describing the Tanzanian climb, Akpene said: "I climbed Snowdon as part of my training, but nothing can prepare you for the altitude on Kilimanjaro. There were 25 of us in our group, but four didn't make it because they got altitude sickness.

"Also the weather changes quite often, it's really unpredictable and the terrain changes sharply, getting really steep in parts. On the last day we started walking at midnight. I made it to the summit at 9am.

"It was challenging, especially as you get close to the summit, it still seems so far."

Akpene had hoped to raise more than £3,000 when she completed the 5,895-metre climb last month, but says she is happy the £1,185 she has raised will go towards research towards a cure.

"Coming off the mountain you realise your abilities are not limited," she added.

'His bravery cost him his life'

Moving police tributes to murdered Keith Blakelock

POLICE officers gathered in the pouring rain last week to mark the 24th anniversary of a "dedicated" colleague murdered during the Broadwater Farm Estate riots.

In keeping with tradition, the youngest probationer in Haringey, 19-year-old Mounir Ahrazem, laid a wreath in memory of 40-year-old police constable Keith Blakelock who was killed on October 6, 1985. Some 80 officers and members of the public gathered in Muswell Hill to observe a one-minute silence in his memory.

The father-of-three, who was a beat officer in Muswell Hill, was stabbed to death during a night of violence between police and hundreds of rioters.

Speaking on the anniversary of his death last Tuesday, police chaplain Reverend Timothy Pike addressed the crowd. He said: "In honouring Keith Blakelock we also honour each one of you here today.

"Each one of you is called to do your work not knowing what you will face, 24 years ago we paid the price. We thank you for your bravery and your willingness to serve the community in which we live."

Haringey's operations superintendent, Chris Barclay, said: "In 1985 I joined the Met with Keith's death at the forefront of my mind. Though I never met him, all the officers have said Keith was dedicated, professional and really cared about what he did and the people he served. They also talked of his sense of humour, which was evident hours before his death when he was preparing to be deployed.

"It's been said that police officers are ordinary people who do an extraordinary job. On that night Keith proved he was an extraordinary person doing an extraordinary job. His bravery earned him the Queen's Gallantry Medal. It also cost him his life. We are here to honour Keith's memory and to make sure that as a community, we never forget, or to put it another way – that we continue to remember."

Bruce Forsyth is the star guest at unveiling

Nice to see you... reopen the Millfield

By Jonathan Lovett

Arts Editor

TRUE to form he started predictably, blindingly obviously... but the audience loved him for it.

"Well. What can I say?" said the dapper octogenarian in sharp blue suit and strangely gingerish hair. "It's nice to see you, to see you..."

"NICE!" we shouted back in unison.

Bruce Forsyth is holding court in the newly redeveloped, multi-million pound Millfield Arts Centre and it does feel as though the king has returned home. The Edmonton-born luminary of light entertainment trained as a dancer in Tottenham and was back in town yesterday to cut the ribbon, pose for pictures by the Bruce Forsyth Auditorium and chat to his adoring public, who have flocked to see him do what he does best – charm the pants off them.

"I went to my first tap dancing teacher in Bruce Grove," he said, laughing. "Because I danced all around the house all of the time so my parents – who weren't well off – said I could go to tap dancing school and I finished up a dancing teacher in Piccadilly."

"It's taken me two hours to find the place today," he said. "I remember you used to get here by going straight down under the bridge, past North Middlesex University Hospital – where I had my kidney out. I wonder how my kidney is?!"

"I lived with some old lady, a bit like you, love [causing an elderly fan to gurgle with pleasure as the silver smoothie proves age has not withered him] and my father brought me back here. I have great memories of the area."

"I'm an Arsenal fan and a Spurs fan – love the Spurs because I could walk to the Spurs from where I lived and Arsenal had a searchlight base that used to pick up the Nazi bombs, so the Arsenal first team would play at the Spurs' ground instead. So I never saw a reserve game, it was either the first team of Arsenal or the first team of Spurs."

He even invited questions from the audience, so I asked if he would like to come back to the Millfield Arts Centre one day and do a spot of panto. "Whooh! I hate panto," he said, with a twinkle in his eye.

"Oh no you don't," chanted one wag.

"Oh yes I do," he retorted. "Mixed audiences are fine, or when there are grown-ups in the audience or kids, but I don't like it when it's the old-age pensioners on a Wednesday afternoon. I really don't like pantomime but I might well come back and do my own one-man show".

With Bruce in vintage form and the revamped centre looking so darn good, everything was right with the world.

It was only when I sat down for a one-to-one chat and asked about the recent Anton Du Beke incident that his mood altered. He refused to answer and the temperature dropped a few degrees.

But addressing the Millfield audience about the row – where the professional dancer had to apologise for making a racist remark to his dance partner – Bruce said: "It's all so stupid. You see, years ago there used to be TV shows where people would call each other racist names because everybody had a sense of humour. Nobody has got a sense of humour today. Nobody."

Perhaps he's fed-up with journalists hassling him, but we were doing so well, Bruce. And it was nice to see you...

No treat in retreat

Couples Retreat (TBC)

Director: Peter Billingsley
Starring: Vince Vaughn, Jason Bateman, Jon Favreau

YEAH, yeah, great job. Get to watch movies for a living; sitting in cinemas while the rest of the world sweats away at "proper" jobs. Lucky me.

Well, let me tell you, my friend, that sometimes this job sucks. Sometimes, when you're only ten minutes into a movie of utter pain and misery and you know you've got another 100 minutes left of trite because you were stupid enough to seek out the running time on the production notes and you cannot leave because this is your job, sometimes I wish I was shovelling chicken crap for a living in Alaska.

Couples Retreat is so bad that, within the first half hour, I had snapped my biro in half, within the second I was stabbing the splintered end into my leg to check that I was alive, the third spent sucking out the ink because I wanted to DIE.

All around me was silence, punctuated by muffled groans as another critic decided to shuffle off this mortal coil.

An alleged "comedy" – but without the laughs the term traditionally denotes – it features an attractive couple (Jason Bateman and Kristen Bell) who travel to an idyllic holiday island to sort out their marriage problems with their coupley friends. But there is trouble in paradise and the on-site counsellors seem to do more harm than good, particularly in the case of Dave (Vince Vaughn) and Ronnie (Malin Akerman) and Joey (Jon Favreau) and Lucy (Kristin Davis) – playing Sex in the City's Charlotte again, while we feel similarly estranged after enduring tedious shark, yoga and canoe incidents and one particularly awful product placement scene for Guitar Hero.

Reflecting the same kind of

I-must-do-everything-because-I-am-God hubris that ensured Judd Apatow's Funny People (and Gervais' latest) were not as hilarious as they thought they were, Vaughn (who used to be good) is guilty of too much creative control at the expense of old-fashioned entertainment.

He's the main actor, writer and producer and even gives his dad a naff, pointless cameo at the end involving a child on the toilet – which is an appropriate image to summarise this crap film.

by Jonathan Lovett

Now Showing...

Zombieland (18)

Amusing zombie horror parody that calls to mind a Tarantino flick with stylish cinematography and punchy one-liners. Although the incoherent and basic plot lets the film down, it serves the purpose for a fun night out after a drink or two. Just check in your brain at the box office.

The Invention of Lying (12A)

To tell the truth this ain't the funniest film you'll see and Ricky Gervais has lost his mojo in Hollywood. In a parallel universe where everyone tells the truth he plays its first liar. Good premise; lame execution.

Jamie Foxx plays Nathaniel Ayers, a brilliant, homeless musician made famous through columns by LA journalist Steve Lopez (Robert Downey Jr.). A by-numbers buddy movie enlivened by Joe Wright's invigorating style.

Away We Go (15)

Sam Mendes' departure from his usual fare of American dream gone awry. Tender and funny story of a couple adrift embarking on a journey across America in a search for a place to bring up their soon-to-be-born baby.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.
2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
3. To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(T)' etc. in the advertisement.
4. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
 - (a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
 - (b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date / day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
 - (c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the advertiser.
5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.
6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.
7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.
8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance charge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.
9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.
10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.
11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.
12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.
13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
 - (1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
 - (2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.
14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect for an advertisement(s) should the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.
15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.
16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers' control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.
17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.
18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing material. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.
Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and other reference agencies. However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.
Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other products and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.
Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

LEE 31, 5ft 3ins,

JAMES WANTS SPURS SWITCH

Keeper after move to boost World Cup hope

By Lee Husson

DAVID JAMES wants a January move to Spurs to guarantee his spot as England number one at the World Cup in South Africa next summer, according to reports.

The Portsmouth goalkeeper, 39, is concerned that Pompey's farcical ownership situation and poor form on the pitch could see his place in Fabio Capello's England team under threat.

Tottenham manager Harry Redknapp was close to bringing in James in the summer, and the deal could be back on, with current Spurs keepers Heurelho Gomes and Carlo Cudicini not looking entirely convincing.

James impressed on England duty after being called into action following Robert Green's sending-off in Ukraine on Saturday night, and sources close to the player have said that a deal is in the pipeline.

The veteran would be the fourth Portsmouth player Redknapp has signed for Spurs, following former team-mates Jermain Defoe, Peter Crouch and Niko Kranjcar.

Meanwhile, Russia manager

Guus Hiddink has hinted that Roman Pavlyuchenko should look to leave White Hart Lane.

Hiddink said that he has been "disturbed" by Pavlyuchenko's lack of playing time this season.

The 27-year-old striker joined Spurs from Spartak Moscow last summer, scoring 14 times in his first season at the club.

But he has fallen behind Defoe, Crouch and Robbie Keane in the pecking order, and has made just three appearances so far.

He picked up an injury in a training session before Russia's World Cup qualifier against Germany at the weekend, and Hiddink said he was concerned about his fitness.

"Pavlyuchenko has no match practice at Tottenham and his body seems to be unaccustomed to intense stress," he said.

"I can't say that we had an intense workout. The fact he does not play, and wasn't even in the squad for the last match, disturbs both us and him."

Tottenham make a return to action with a trip to Portsmouth on Saturday.

More misery as sorry 'Boro slump again

Royston Town 5 Haringey Borough 2

Molten Spartan Premier Division

A MUCH-CHANGED Haringey Borough side endured an afternoon to forget on Saturday as they slumped to another crushing league defeat at Royston Town.

A lack of availability forced Borough to field five players who had only been signed the previous day, and they fell behind after just eight minutes when Carl Edwards headed home.

Borough equalised against the run of play soon after when Tolu Popoola netted with a spectacular 25-yard thunderbolt, but they were on level terms for just two minutes as Luke Robins scored from the spot after Andrea Loizou had been harshly penalised for handling in the box.

Ryan Lockett added a third for Royston – only for Edward Owusu-Ansah, one of the debutants, to reduce Borough's deficit just before the break.

But their hopes of a revival were short lived as Ross Collins soon restored the two-goal lead before Lewis Endacott rounded off the scoring on 55 minutes.

And Borough's sorry afternoon ended on a suitably sour note as Carlos Gander, another debutant, saw red for a rash challenge three minutes before time.

Haringey Borough host Langford on Saturday (3pm), before entertaining Dunstable Town the Challenge Trophy on Tuesday (7.45pm).

Massara ups recruitment drive

LIAM PRESCOTT has become the latest player to sign for the London Skolars as they continue to bolster their squad in advance of the forthcoming rugby league season.

New head coach James Massara has wasted little time in bringing in new faces as he looks to transform the fortunes of a club who won just once in Co-Operative Championship One in the whole of last season.

And he is confident that Prescott, a goal-kicking hooker or half-back who has played for Harlequins Rugby League for the past five years – including an appearance against the Skolars in the 2007 capital challenge – will prove to be a good acquisition for the club.

"Liam is a great addition to our squad," Massara said. "He is another London-based player who I have known for a long time. He can cover a few positions for us, and his signing brings in some healthy competition."

"The squad is building nicely, and adding quality players like Liam is vital to our success next year."

"Blokes like Liam know what London is all about and they have been through all of the highs and lows that playing for a club in the south brings."

Massara added: "The lads we are bringing in know what play-off football is all about, and are aware of the investment it takes both mentally and physically in order to win."
